" Hope and Despair ignore one another's Cries"

The Threats and Challenges of the Economy and the Environment are never ending. So are the Opportunities and Responses!!

While we need to be constantly mindful of the threats and challenges, we need to also take heart from the spontaneous and even simultaneous responses to these threats and challenges. The Public have a duty to identify, understand and appreciate such opportunities and responses that are coming up from all walks of life, all ages and all over the country. Every day there are new awareness and new alternatives.

Green Hopes is a humble platform and mart to highlight such opportunities and responses; awareness and alternatives.

Green Hopes 2.0

Green Hopes 2019 is a repeat of Green Hopes '95 which focused on several new opportunities and responses of that time, including water conservation, horticulture, floriculture, alternative energy, pollution control, women entrepreneurship and so on. It gave a leg up to many local entrepreneurs. Much water has flown down the rivers of Nilgiris in the past quarter of a century. Newer threats and challenges have emerged. So have newer opportunities and responses.

Green Hopes 2019 will focus on the following current priorities. The list is only illustrative.

- Packaging and Recycling
- Construction
- Medicine and Health
- Education and Skilling
- Sustainable Tourism
- Organic Farming
- Climate Change mitigation and adaptation.
- Man and Animal conflict /coexistence
- Life style adaptation
- Revisiting Tradition and Culture
- Back to Humanness, Gratitude, Compassion and Charity
- Individual and Corporate Social Responsibility

Bicentenary of Modern Nilgiris

Green Hopes 2019 happily coincides with the Bicentenary of Modern Nilgiris or the British Period that had profound implications not only to the mountains but also to the vast plains below.

Date and Venue

Green Hopes 2019 will take place from May 1 to May 5, 2019. The Venue will be the Tribal Resources Centre on the Garden Road, near Assembly Rooms and opposite to Lawley Institute.

Exhibition cum sale

Green Hopes will be an Exhibition cum Sale event. But Sale is not a must.
